

Working at Liberty Global

Liberty Global Inc. is a global media company that serves 17.6 million customers through its advanced video, telephone, and broadband internet services.

The company's European operations serve customers in 11 different countries, primarily through the following three divisions: UPC broadband, Telenet, and Chellomedia, which is a major media and programming business. The company's European operations are headquartered in Amsterdam and managed by Liberty Global Europe, a wholly owned subsidiary.

Liberty Global also operates under VTR Global Com, S.A. and Liberty Cablevision of Puerto Rico in the Americas. VTR is an 80% owned subsidiary, while Liberty Cablevision of Puerto Rico is a wholly owned subsidiary.

The company's operations in Australia are provided through AUSTAR United Communications Limited. AUSTAR is a major pay television provider that serves customers in regional and rural Australia through its video, voice, and programming offerings.

Liberty Global also holds interests in content businesses in its regional markets. The company has ownership interests in MGM Networks Latin America and Pramer S.C.A., which dispense programming to the Latin American market.

Job opportunities with Liberty Global can be found mainly in the areas of customer care, human resources, and technology. The company encourages its 20,000 employees to voice their opinions and concerns through employee satisfaction surveys and a 24-hour compliance line, which allows employees to anonymously report work-related issues.

Career progression is fostered through management development programs, which are offered at a number of locations. Liberty Global employees are also entitled to benefits that generally include sponsored healthcare coverage, pension savings programs, and discounts on company products and services. The company also offers health and wellness programs such as free health check-ups and healthy living seminars.
