

Jobs with PACCAR Inc.

PACCAR Inc. is Washington-based technology company that is involved in the design, manufacture, and customer support of premium light-duty, medium-duty, and heavy-duty trucks. The company further offers tailored financial services, information technology, and truck parts in connection with its primary businesses.

PACCAR'S companies include DAF, Leyland Trucks, Kenworth, Kenworth Mexico, Peterbilt, DAF Parts, PACCAR Australia, PACCAR Engines, Dynacraft, and PACCAR Winch Division. The company's service companies operate under the names of PACCAR Financial, PACCAR International, PACCAR Lease, and PACCAR Purchasing.

DAF Trucks are produced in the Netherlands, Belgium, and the United Kingdom and are sold throughout Western Europe, Eastern Europe, Asia, Africa, and North America. The Kenworth Truck Company constructs top of the line commercial vehicles, which are sold primarily in the US, Canada, Mexico, and Australia. Peterbilt Motors designs, builds, and delivers its commercial vehicles to locations in the US and Canada.

With its products going out to more than 100 countries through a dealer network of about 1,800 locations, the company brings in more than half of its revenues and profits from countries outside of the US. Through the work of PACCAR International, the company is currently developing its dealer network in Asia and beyond.

PACCAR Parts offers aftermarket support for Kenworth, Peterbilt, and DAF customers around the globe through its network of parts distribution centers.

PACCAR Financial Services assists both customers and dealers by providing finance, lease, and insurance services in 15 countries. PACCAR Leasing, a North-American truck leasing company, is also a member of PACCAR Financial Services.

PACCAR was established in 1905 as the Seattle Car Mfg. Co, which manufactured railroad and logging equipment. The company was founded by William Pigott Sr., who sold his control of the company to American Car and Foundry Company in 1924. Prior to the sale, the company merged with the Twohy Brothers of Portland and was renamed the Pacific Car and Foundry Company.

In 1934, Pigott's son, Paul Pigott, gained a major interest in the Pacific Car and Foundry Company. When the US became involved in the War in 1941, the company became involved in the manufacture of Sherman Tanks and tank recovery vehicles for the war effort. In 1945, the company purchased the Kenworth Motor Truck Company of Seattle and in 1958 it obtained both the Peterbilt Motors Company and the Dart Truck Company.

In 1972, the company officially changed its name to PACCAR Inc. and the Pacific Car and Foundry Company became a subsidiary. In 1981, PACCAR Inc. obtained the United Kingdom's Folden Trucks. 1996 brought the acquisition of the Netherlands-based DAF Trucks and two years later the company acquired the United Kingdom-based Leyland Trucks.

Employee benefit offerings vary by location but within the US, benefit offerings typically include medical coverage, vision benefits, and dental coverage. Also within the medical benefits options are preventive care, prescription drug benefits, well-child care, and a company-paid smoking cessation program. Other insurance benefits consist of AD&D, life insurance, and short-and long-term disability insurance. Additionally, a savings investment plan (SIP), pension plan, flexible spending account, EAP, tuition reimbursement program, scholarship program, employee stock purchase plan program, and an employee computer purchase plan program are available.

There are 97 jobs with PACCAR Inc. at www.hound.com. Current listings include assistant human resources manager, accounts payable lead, area quality manager, recruiting assistant/coordinator, engineering product manager, and business technology analyst. There are 51 job listings with PACCAR at www.monster.com, including openings for a dealer development manager, call center specialist, field service manager, materials process engineer, senior cost accountant, and engine test engineer.