

California State Government Jobs

Introduction- The California State Government operates as a democratic republic. The state has three government branches- judicial branch, legislative branch and executive branch.

About California State Government: The California State Government consists of three branches. The executive branch includes the Governor as well as other constitutional officers. The Judicial Branch includes the state's Supreme Court as well as other lower courts. The legislative branch includes the Senate and the Assembly.

The State allows the direct participation of electorate through ratification, recall, referendum and initiative. Government is enforced through commissions, state agencies and local governments which consist of special districts, school districts, cities and counties.

Employment at the California State Government: California State Government Jobs are available in a wide range of areas with excellent pay benefits. All state government employees receive a wide variety of benefits which go beyond retirement and insurance. California State Government Jobs allow employees to select their dental and health benefits from the wide range of plan options provided by the State.

Employees can select the coverage levels and plans which meets their needs the best. The California State Government understands the needs of its employees and proactively provides them with career development resources and tools, financial benefits, medical benefits and various other family friendly plans and programs for the overall development of the employees.

Careers with California State Government include Consolidated Benefits, a part of the FlexElect Program of the State. Under this program employees receive a total benefit sum allowance rather than specific contributions for vision, dental and health benefits so employees can select the coverage levels for each benefit. Jobs with California State Government also include a 457 and 401(k) Savings Plan.

The Savings Plan offered by the State allows employees to build their retirement account through automated payroll deductions which then go into the investments selected by the employee. Employees of the State also receive various kinds of time off and leave benefits.

ScholarShare is the State's official college savings plan which helps eligible employees to pay for higher education.

Usual California State Government Job Openings: California State Government Jobs are available in a wide range of agencies, as given below:

- Transportation & Housing Agency
- Environmental Protection Agency
- Health & Human Services Agency
- Labor & Workforce Development Agency
- Natural Resources Agency
- State & Consumer Services Agency
- Department of Corrections & Rehabilitation

Current California State Government Job Openings: Some of the positions that are currently available in California State Government are

- Transportation Specialist
- Office Assistant
- Seized Property Specialist
- Intelligence Research Specialist
- Psychiatric Nursing Assistant
- Registered Nurse
- Mission Support Specialist
- Management Analyst
- Computer Scientist
- Financial Management Analyst
- IT Specialist