

Bright House Networks – More than Just Your Cable Company

Introduction- You may have Bright House Networks services in your locale. It is in many different states. It's actually the sixth largest cable systems operator in the United States. Some of the states that have its advanced systems are Indiana, Alabama, California, Florida and Michigan. As of this writing, Bright House Networks has over 2.4 million customers that use their high-speed Internet, voice and video services. They offer a variety of packages that revolve around telephone, Internet, Ethernet and cable television. Business services are also made available for targeted advertising solutions. Bright House also has exclusive local channels that it owns, including news and sports channels.

Involvement in the Community

As a community service provider, Bright House Networks takes time to improve the lives of people in the cities they serve. A variety of programs are offered, including investing in education and afterschool programs. These efforts are geared towards improving classrooms with technologies and cable resources for learning engineering, math, technology and science. They also have programs called Keeping Kids Safe and Operation Bright Eyes that are run by volunteers from their organization. Affordable broadband Internet services are made available to qualifying households that have at least one school-aged child.

Helping Businesses with Bundled Solutions

Cable, telephone and Internet services are specially created for businesses that need solutions to better run their companies. Communications is highly important for every business and so is data infrastructure. Bright House Networks offers these solutions to big and small businesses, including startups. It also provides bundles for the changing needs of growing businesses. Whether the company is in the customer service, sales, real estate or food and beverage industry, solutions are available to make the jobs of employees a bit easier.

Careers at Bright House

There are a variety of positions that are available at Bright House Networks, including those within sales, customer service, technology, local programming, service technicians and more. Jobs at Bright House Networks can be found at Hound.com. Diversity is a big for this company, so it hires people from all backgrounds and cultures. It also offers positions to men and women who have served in the U.S. military. Benefits are offered to employees of Bright House Networks for dental, health and vision. Other benefits that are offered to its workers include disability benefits, tuition reimbursement, personal days, vacation time, retirement plans and 401k savings. Depending on the location where employees live, they may be able to receive free or discounted services for their home.

Bright House Networks can be found on social media Web sites like Facebook, Twitter and YouTube. There is also a company blog on its Web site.